

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A split bushing having first and second ends and formed first and second portions, each of the first and second portions having first ends which have a circumference which is less than 50% of the total bushing first end circumference and a second end with a circumference which is greater than 50% of the total bushing second end circumference. The first end of the first portion the second end of the second portion formed a first end of the bushing. The bushing is easily inserted and removed as required.